

Brand Performance

opportunitydesigned.com (EN, United States)

- Overall Visibility: The analysis shows that your brand currently has zero visibility on ChatGPT, meaning it is not mentioned or recommended to users looking for retail consulting services.
- Competitor Standing: Large consulting firms dominate the market visibility on this platform, with McKinsey and Company leading at around 20 percent of all mentions, followed closely by Circana at over 19 percent and NielsenIQ at nearly 17 percent.
- Website References: Your website is currently not referenced as a source by the AI, whereas competitor websites and informational pages like Wikipedia are frequently cited to back up recommendations.
- Brand Strengths: When the AI describes your specific business approach conceptually, it highlights your focus on solving actual retailer problems and your hands-on, practical style as major positive points that set you apart from traditional firms.
- Areas for Improvement: The main hurdles preventing you from being recommended are low brand recognition, a lack of public case studies, and confusion around how your services are labeled and positioned.
- Key Recommendations: To improve your visibility, you should publish four to six highly detailed articles on your website about retail growth, consistently use branded terms like Opportunity Units, and clearly position your firm as a specialist for mid-sized consumer brands.
- Reducing Client Risk: You can attract more interest by creating simple, low-risk introductory services and sharing clear, numbers-based summaries of your past successes to prove your value.

This report provides a snapshot of current activity. Deeper trend analysis will become more reliable with a longer data history.

Brand Performance

Urgent Strategic Priorities

Platform: ChatGPT

| Urgent Strategic Priorities             | Priorities                                                                                         |
|-----------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Lead With Retailer Problems      | Make “retailer-problem-first” headline claim; 4/5 mentions prove it differentiates.                |
| Enter the Shortlist Loop         | Zero ChatGPT SOV means missing McKinsey’s 19.59% loop —target priority query clusters immediately. |
| Own Opportunity Units Story      | Reframe credentials around “retail-ready opportunity units”; cited positively in 4/5 answers.      |
| Build AI-Readable Anchor Library | Publish 4–6 data-rich articles where NIQ/Circana now dominate assortment and rollout questions.    |

Share of Voice vs. Sentiment

Platform: ChatGPT

● McKinsey & company ● Circana ● Nielseniq ● Boston consulting group

Overall Sentiment

Platform: ChatGPT

|             |    |
|-------------|----|
| ● Favorable | 0% |
| ● General   | 0% |

Share of Voice Distribution

Platform: ChatGPT

Brand Performance Opportunities

Platform: ChatGPT

Brand Performance Opportunities

short timeframe

Compared with traditional consultancies, Opportunity designed is perceived as far more execution-oriented and embedded, but less scalable for very large transformations, suggesting a sweet spot in mid-market and emerging-leader brands.

Positive drivers emphasize a hands-on, embedded style with retainer-style support beyond initial strategy, plus perceived merchandising/buying expertise—especially relevant to outdoor and performance. Negative drivers mention limited perceived scale for global or cross-functional transformations and a narrower scope on enterprise analytics or org design. This positions you naturally between big firms and pure agencies for brands in the ‘outgrowing early wins’ stage.

Recommendations

- Lean into this middle-market, scale-up positioning rather than trying to imitate enterprise consultancies.
- Make your ideal client profile explicit (e.g., “$20–$300M consumer brands stepping into or scaling across national retail”) and show how your embedded model and retail insider expertise deliver more practical value at that stage than big-firm teams.
- This will help ChatGPT and human buyers understand when Opportunity designed is the ‘right size’ answer and when they truly need a global transformation partner.

Brand Performance Opportunities

medium timeframe

The combination of low recognition, scarce public cases, and ambiguous labeling means that, from a ChatGPT perspective, Opportunity designed's risk profile currently outweighs its distinctive approach for many buyers.

All negative perception drivers—low recognition (5/5), scarce social proof (4/5), perceived scale limitations (3/5), price/value concerns for smaller brands (3/5), and ambiguity in positioning (3/5)—cluster around perceived risk and fit. In a recommendation context, this pushes AI to default to safer, better-known names, even when their approach is less tailored to emerging brands' realities.

Recommendations

- Systematically de-risk the choice to hire you by clarifying where you fit, publishing outcome-focused micro-cases, and offering engagement formats that feel manageable (e.g., diagnostic sprints or pilot 'opportunity units' before full retainers).
- Communicate these de-risking mechanisms clearly in your public messaging so that when AI or humans surface objections around recognition or scale, there are visible, concrete counters rather than abstract reassurances.

medium timeframe

There is a structural opportunity for Opportunity designed to become the go-to 'retail insider' partner for outdoor and performance brands, a niche currently underserved in generic ChatGPT recommendations.

Perceived retail insider expertise in outdoor and performance categories is called out as a positive driver (3/5), but most AI answers about outdoor/performance brands name generic consultants and rep groups rather than a strategy partner with deep category merchandising roots. This leaves a gap where a specialist like Opportunity designed could own the 'performance/outdoor retail growth' narrative if it codified and publicized that focus.

Recommendations

- Define outdoor and performance as a primary vertical and build a visible body of work and language around it—category maps, line architecture examples, channel roadmaps, and buyer stories tailored to REI, Dick's, Backcountry, run and outdoor specialty.
- Make this the first vertical you talk about in public forums and web content.
- Over time, aim for ChatGPT to recognize and describe Opportunity designed as "especially relevant to outdoor and performance brands," turning a current soft perception into a hard association.

Brand Performance Opportunities

urgent timeframe

Opportunity designed punches above its current brand weight on high-value business drivers in ChatGPT (revenue growth, retail channel strategy, category growth stories, buyer sell-in), but its near-zero Share of Voice prevents these strengths from converting into consistent recommendations.

You are explicitly linked to key drivers like Revenue Growth & Trade Spend Discipline (3 mentions), Retail Channel Strategy & Prioritization (2), Category Growth Story & Captaincy Support (2), and Buyer-Focused Sell-In Story Development (1). These are exactly the high-stakes problems that queries are about. Yet, because you're absent from the SOV table and most citations, ChatGPT and prospects still default to McKinsey, NIQ, Circana, and others when naming specific partners.

Recommendations

- Treat those four business drivers as your “must own” territories and build a focused growth narrative, content, and case set around them.
- Internally, align your offer, messaging, and outbound efforts so that any time a question touches revenue-disciplined growth, retailer prioritization, category captaincy, or sell-in storytelling, Opportunity designed has a sharp, repeatable story and proof.
- Externally, target podcasts, panels, and written pieces that explicitly use this language so both humans and AI tools start to associate your brand with these critical levers.

urgent timeframe

Overall, Opportunity designed's biggest lever for improving performance in ChatGPT is not changing what it does, but codifying and broadcasting its existing strengths in ways that match how AI systems and executives describe their problems.

The underlying value proposition—retailer-problem-first, opportunity units, integrated brand/product/ops, test-and-learn rigor, embedded support—is already well suited to the questions being asked. The main gaps are in visibility, naming, proof, and fit signaling. Without deliberate work to translate your model into public language, branded frameworks, and cited cases, AI will continue to treat these as generic best practices rather than attributes of Opportunity designed specifically.

Recommendations

- Create a simple master narrative that connects your distinctive approach to the specific query patterns seen here, and then build a 12–18 month program of visible actions around it: 3–5 flagship case studies, a few branded frameworks, targeted appearances, and a more explicit ICP.
- Use that narrative to brief your team, your creative partners, and any PR or content resources so that every external touchpoint reinforces the same story.
- This will let you compound perception and visibility gains over time, both with human buyers and with AI systems that increasingly mediate their decisions.

Narrative Drivers

Top Visibility Priorities

Platform: ChatGPT

| Top Visibility Priorities                 | Priorities                                                                                              |
|-------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Enter the Shortlist Loop           | Zero ChatGPT SOV means missing McKinsey's 19.59% loop —target priority query clusters immediately.      |
| Build AI-Readable Anchor Library   | Publish 4–6 data-rich articles where NIQ/Circana now dominate assortment and rollout questions.         |
| Brand the Signature Methods        | Tie “Opportunity Units™” and retail-insider approach explicitly to Opportunity designed in all content. |
| Compete Side-by-Side Publicly      | Create comparison narratives against NIQ, Circana, McKinsey already owning 60%+ combined SOV.           |
| Concentrate Around Two Territories | Dominate “first big retail rollout” and “category growth story” instead of spreading efforts thin.      |

Share of Voice by Platform

Platform: ChatGPT

Share of Voice Trends

Platform: ChatGPT

● Mckinsey & company ● Circana ● Nielseniq ● Boston consulting group ● Opportunity designed

Mentions Distribution

Platform: ChatGPT

| Mentions Distribution | Share | Number |
|-----------------------|-------|--------|
| Opportunity designed  | 0%    | 0      |
| Mckinsey & company    | 20.6% | 36     |
| Circana               | 19.4% | 34     |
| Nielseniq             | 16.6% | 29     |

| Mentions Distribution   | Share | Number |
|-------------------------|-------|--------|
| Boston consulting group | 11.4% | 20     |

Mentions Trends

Platform: ChatGPT

● McKinsey & company ● Circana ● Nielseniq ● Boston consulting group ● Opportunity designed

Average Position

Platform: ChatGPT

| Average Position        | Value |
|-------------------------|-------|
| Opportunity designed    | n/a   |
| McKinsey & company      | 1.36  |
| Circana                 | 2.68  |
| NielseniQ               | 1.79  |
| Boston consulting group | 2.6   |

Average Position Trends

Platform: ChatGPT

Top Domains by Citations

Platform: ChatGPT

| Top Domains By Citations | Share Of Citations | Citations |
|--------------------------|--------------------|-----------|
| en.wikipedia.org         | 7.9%               | 48        |
| mckinsey.com             | 4.9%               | 30        |
| nielseniq.com            | 2%                 | 12        |
| circana.com              | 2%                 | 12        |
| matrixxcp.com            | 1.1%               | 7         |
| opportunitydesigned.com  | 0%                 | 0         |

Top Cited Domains Trends

Platform: ChatGPT

Breakdown by Question

Platform: ChatGPT | Question type: Non-branded | Competitors: All | Main brand position: Any | Main brand sentiment: All

| Breakdown By Question                                                                                                          | Comp. | Opportunity designed |           | Mckinsey & company |           | Circana  |           |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|----------------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|----------|-----------|
|                                                                                                                                |       | Position             | Sentiment | Position           | Sentiment | Position | Sentiment |
| Who helps consumer brands build omnichannel assortment strategies instead of siloed DTC and retail plans?                      | 7     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | 6        | 100%      |
| Who helps consumer brands figure out which retailers they should actually be in versus chasing every door?                     | 7     | n/a                  | n/a       | 3                  | 100%      | 2        | 100%      |
| Which consultants can help us decide whether to lead with fewer, premium SKUs or a broader assortment at opening price points? | 6     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | 6        | 100%      |
| Which firms specialize in resetting a stagnant retail category with new positioning and assortment strategy?                   | 6     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | 6        | 100%      |
| What firms are good at building cross-category or cross-aisle strategies for lifestyle brands?                                 | 5     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | n/a      | n/a       |

| Breakdown By Question                                                                                                    | Comp. | Opportunity designed |           | Mckinsey & company |           | Circana  |           |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|----------------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|----------|-----------|
|                                                                                                                          |       | Position             | Sentiment | Position           | Sentiment | Position | Sentiment |
| Which consultants focus specifically on assortment planning and buying optimization for consumer brands?                 | 5     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | 5        | 100%      |
| Which consultants guide brands through creating differentiated assortments for club vs grocery vs mass?                  | 5     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | 4        | 100%      |
| Which firms are good at helping premium brands keep pricing power as they enter mass retail?                             | 5     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | n/a      | n/a       |
| Which partners can help a brand choose between club, mass, specialty, and natural channels for its next phase of growth? | 5     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 0%        | 5        | 0%        |
| Who can audit our current retail assortment and tell us what's actually driving profit vs just taking up shelf space?    | 5     | n/a                  | n/a       | 3                  | 100%      | 2        | 0%        |
| What agencies help brands build "category captain" style tools and insights even if they're not the market leader yet?   | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 0%        | 3        | 0%        |

| Breakdown By Question                                                                                           | Comp. | Opportunity designed |           | Mckinsey & company |           | Circana  |           |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|----------------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|----------|-----------|
|                                                                                                                 |       | Position             | Sentiment | Position           | Sentiment | Position | Sentiment |
| What consultants can build a growth game plan for a brand that's plateaued in conventional grocery?             | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 0%        | 1        | 100%      |
| What consultants can help us quantify and prioritize the biggest growth levers in our current retail footprint? | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | n/a      | n/a       |
| What consulting agencies specialize in taking a niche premium brand mainstream without diluting the brand?      | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | n/a                | n/a       | n/a      | n/a       |
| What firms are known for helping brands simplify their product lines to grow faster?                            | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | n/a      | n/a       |
| What firms specialize in supporting brands through seasonal line reviews and category resets?                   | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 50%       | 1        | 100%      |
| What kind of consultant should we hire to evaluate our current retail partners and suggest better channel fit?  | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | n/a      | n/a       |

| Breakdown By Question                                                                                                                    | Comp. | Opportunity designed |           | Mckinsey & company |           | Circana  |           |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|----------------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|----------|-----------|
|                                                                                                                                          |       | Position             | Sentiment | Position           | Sentiment | Position | Sentiment |
| What partners help brands build an internal “way of working” around assortment and retail strategy?                                      | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | 4        | 100%      |
| What partners help brands create a compelling, data-backed pitch to upgrade from bottom shelf to eye level?                              | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | n/a                | n/a       | 1        | 100%      |
| Which agencies focus on business-building strategy rather than just advertising and campaigns?                                           | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 0%        | n/a      | n/a       |
| Which consultants excel at creating premium trade-up opportunities within an existing category?                                          | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 0%        | n/a      | n/a       |
| Which consultants specialize in helping brands clean up bloated SKU counts after rapid growth?                                           | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 100%      | 4        | 100%      |
| Which firms advise brands on how to structure exclusives and limited editions with key retail partners without cannibalizing core sales? | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 0%        | n/a      | n/a       |

| Breakdown By Question                                                                                        | Comp. | Opportunity designed |           | Mckinsey & company |           | Circana  |           |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|----------------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|----------|-----------|
|                                                                                                              |       | Position             | Sentiment | Position           | Sentiment | Position | Sentiment |
| Which firms are a good fit for brands that already have strong creative agencies but need business strategy? | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | n/a      | n/a       |
| Which firms excel at translating consumer insights into clear assortment and merchandising decisions?        | 4     | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | 3        | 100%      |

Cited Domains

Platform: ChatGPT | Citations Type: Non-branded | Pages: All | Main brand citations: All | Main brand sentiment: All | Answer:

| Cited Domains                                                             | Pages | Answers | Opportunity designed |           | Mckinsey & company |           | Circana   |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|---------|----------------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|-----------|
|                                                                           |       |         | Citations            | Sentiment | Citations          | Sentiment | Citations |
| en.wikipedia.org                   | 17    | 34      | n/a                  | n/a       | 16                 | 48.6%     | 3         |
| mckinsey.com                           | 17    | 29      | n/a                  | n/a       | 30                 | 72.2%     | 12        |
| circana.com                             | 3     | 12      | n/a                  | n/a       | 10                 | 88%       | 12        |
| nielseniq.com                         | 8     | 11      | n/a                  | n/a       | 8                  | 100%      | 9         |
| matrixxcp.com                         | 1     | 7       | n/a                  | n/a       | 5                  | 58.3%     | 2         |
| columbusconsulting.com       | 6     | 6       | n/a                  | n/a       | 5                  | 69.2%     | 2         |
| lek.com                                     | 6     | 6       | n/a                  | n/a       | 6                  | 100%      | 3         |
| planpivotcollective.com     | 3     | 6       | n/a                  | n/a       | 5                  | 75%       | 2         |
| cpgconsult.com                       | 1     | 5       | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 25%       | 1         |
| off-shelf.com                         | 1     | 5       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 0%        | 2         |
| theretaillaunchco.com         | 1     | 5       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 0%        | n/a       |
| deloitte.com                           | 3     | 4       | n/a                  | n/a       | 4                  | 62.5%     | 1         |
| greenretailconsulting.com | 3     | 4       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 0%        | n/a       |
| wipro.com                                 | 2     | 4       | n/a                  | n/a       | 4                  | 88.9%     | 3         |
| marketpathpartners.com       | 1     | 4       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | n/a       |
| temeritymarketing.com         | 1     | 4       | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 50%       | 1         |
| bain.com                                   | 3     | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 3                  | 75%       | n/a       |
| hatcherygroup.com                 | 3     | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | 1         |
| kantar.com                               | 3     | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 33.3%     | 2         |

| Cited Domains                               | Pages | Answers | Opportunity designed |           | Mckinsey & company |           | Circana   |
|---------------------------------------------|-------|---------|----------------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|-----------|
|                                             |       |         | Citations            | Sentiment | Citations          | Sentiment | Citations |
| bcg.com                     | 2     | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 3                  | 100%      | 2         |
| bosstrategy.com             | 2     | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 0%        | n/a       |
| frontrowgroup.com           | 2     | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 0%        | n/a       |
| crossstratinc.com           | 1     | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 100%      | 1         |
| end2endoutdoor.com          | 1     | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | n/a                | n/a       | n/a       |
| naturalrootedstrategies.com | 1     | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 50%       | 1         |

Cited Pages

Platform: ChatGPT | Citations Type: Non-branded | Main brand citations: All | Main brand sentiment: All | Answers: All

| Cited Pages                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Answers | Opportunity designed |           | Mckinsey & company |           | Circana   |           |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|----------------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|-----------|-----------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  |         | Citations            | Sentiment | Citations          | Sentiment | Citations | Sentiment |
| Draft Sales & Marketingen.wikipedia.org/wiki/Draft%3AAcosta_Sale_s_%26_Marketing?utm_source=openai                                         | 14      | n/a                  | n/a       | 4                  | 70%       | 1         | 100%      |
| SmashBranden.wikipedia.org/wiki/SmashBrand?utm_source=openai                                                                                                        | 11      | n/a                  | n/a       | 3                  | 50%       | 1         | 100%      |
| Retail Assortment Planning & Optimization Solutions   Circanacircana.com/solutions/assortment?utm_source=openai                                                     | 8       | n/a                  | n/a       | 7                  | 100%      | 8         | 100%      |
| Commercial Transformationmckinsey.com/industries/retail/how-we-help-clients/commercial-transformation?utm_source=openai | 7       | n/a                  | n/a       | 7                  | 85%       | 5         | 92.3%     |
| Shopper Marketing Agency for CPG Brands   Matrixx CPGmatrixxcpg.com/?utm_source=openai                                                                                               | 7       | n/a                  | n/a       | 5                  | 58.3%     | 2         | 100%      |
| About this practicemckinsey.com/industries/retail/how-we-help-clients/about-this-practice?utm_source=openai                   | 5       | n/a                  | n/a       | 5                  | 45.5%     | 1         | 100%      |

| Cited Pages                                                                                                                                                               | Answers | Opportunity designed |           | Mckinsey & company |           | Circana   |           |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|----------------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|-----------|-----------|
|                                                                                                                                                                           |         | Citations            | Sentiment | Citations          | Sentiment | Citations | Sentiment |
| CPG Consulting   Retail & Ecommerce Growth for Emerging CPG Brandscpgconsult.com/?utm_source=openai           | 5       | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 25%       | 1         | 100%      |
| OFF-SHELF AGENCYoff-shelf.com/?utm_source=openai                                                               | 5       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 0%        | 2         | 100%      |
| The Retail Launch Co.theretaillaunchco.com/?utm_source=openai                                          | 5       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 0%        | n/a       | n/a       |
| Crossmarken.wikipedia.org/wiki/Crossmark?utm_source=openai                                    | 4       | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 0%        | 1         | 100%      |
| MarketPath Partners — Brand Representation & Retail Strategymarketpathpartners.com/?utm_source=openai | 4       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 100%      | n/a       | n/a       |
| Retail Consulting Firm   Plan + Pivot Collectiveplanpivotcollective.com/?utm_source=openai           | 4       | n/a                  | n/a       | 4                  | 66.7%     | 2         | 100%      |

| Cited Pages                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Answers | Opportunity designed |           | Mckinsey & company |           | Circana   |           |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|----------------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|-----------|-----------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |         | Citations            | Sentiment | Citations          | Sentiment | Citations | Sentiment |
| Temerity Marketing  CPG Consulting &Fractional CMOServicestemeritymarketing.com/cpg-brand-marketing?utm_source=openai                        | 4       | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 50%       | 1         | 100%      |
| AssortmentOptimization - NIQnielseniq.com/global/en/solutions/assortment-optimization/?utm_source=openai                            | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 100%      | 3         | 83.3%     |
| Assortment Planning& Optimization - NIQnielseniq.com/global/en/products/assortment-planning-optimization/?utm_source=openai | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 3                  | 100%      | 3         | 85.7%     |
| Brand Management &Growth Strategies forCPG & GM Retail  Circanacircana.com/solutions/growth-consulting?utm_source=openai                       | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 3                  | 50%       | 3         | 100%      |
| End2End Outdoorend2endoutdoor.com/?utm_source=openai                                                                                                                           | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | n/a                | n/a       | n/a       | n/a       |
| Landor Associatesen.wikipedia.org/wiki/Landor_Associates?utm_source=openai                                                                                 | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 40%       | n/a       | n/a       |

| Cited Pages                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Answers | Opportunity designed |           | Mckinsey & company |           | Circana   |           |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|----------------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|-----------|-----------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              |         | Citations            | Sentiment | Citations          | Sentiment | Citations | Sentiment |
| Product Assortment Solutions   Category Rationalization Solutions - Wiprowipro.com/consumer-packaged-goods/solutions/product-assortment-and-category-rationalization-improve-customer-shopping-experiences/?utm_source=openai | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 3                  | 85.7%     | 3         | 100%      |
| Retail Branding Agency   We Ignite Retail Brand Fueltheoryhouse.com/?utm_source=openai                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                          | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 0%        | n/a       | n/a       |
| Retail Consulting for Amazon & DTC Brands   Crossover Strategies Inccrossstratinc.com/?utm_source=openai                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 2                  | 100%      | 1         | 100%      |
| Retail Strategy for Natural CPG Brandsnaturalrootedstrategies.com/?utm_source=openai                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 50%       | 1         | 100%      |
| Strategy   Consumer Packaged Goods   McKinsey & Companymckinsey.com/industries/consumer-packaged-goods/how-we-help-clients/strategy?utm_source=openai                                                                                                                               | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | 3                  | 71.4%     | n/a       | n/a       |

| Cited Pages                                                                                                                                                                                                | Answers | Opportunity designed |           | Mckinsey & company |           | Circana   |           |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|----------------------|-----------|--------------------|-----------|-----------|-----------|
|                                                                                                                                                                                                            |         | Citations            | Sentiment | Citations          | Sentiment | Citations | Sentiment |
| Susie Levitt - Wholesale Consultant & Retail Placement Expert   Susie Levitt Consultingsusielevittconsulting.com/?utm_source=openai | 3       | n/a                  | n/a       | n/a                | n/a       | n/a       | n/a       |
| About / Barrel — CPG Commerce Agencybarrelny.com/about?utm_source=openai                                                                    | 2       | n/a                  | n/a       | 1                  | 0%        | n/a       | n/a       |

Narrative Drivers Opportunities

Platform: ChatGPT

Narrative Drivers Opportunities

medium timeframe

Most cited resources in ChatGPT answers are large data providers and global consultancies, so Opportunity designed is losing ground because its thinking is not present in the citation layer AI relies on.

Across responses, the cited links skew heavily to NIQ, Circana, McKinsey, Deloitte, Kantar, and specialist boutiques; Opportunity designed's own content is never referenced. Since LLMs lean on high-authority, well-structured sources when generating specific partner recommendations, brands without published thought leadership in these domains are structurally disadvantaged.

Recommendations

- Publish a small but high-quality library of “anchor” pieces that codify Opportunity designed's methodology in the same topics where ChatGPT is already answering—revenue growth & trade spend, category captaincy, buyer-focused sell-in, and retail channel strategy.
- Aim for 4–6 substantial, data-rich articles or white papers hosted on your site and syndicated via credible industry platforms, explicitly framed around queries like “how to de-risk first big retail rollout” or “how to build retailer-ready opportunity units.” Over time, ensure these assets are widely linked and referenced so they become natural citations for AI when answering retail growth questions.

Narrative Drivers Opportunities

medium timeframe

Because ChatGPT does not recognize Opportunity designed as a distinct firm, it currently explains the approach in generic terms instead of attaching it to the brand, diluting visibility even when your differentiators are described.

In the answer to “How does Opportunity designed’s approach differ...,” the assistant explicitly says it cannot find the firm and then answers conceptually (“a specialist firm with an ‘opportunity design’ mindset”). The unique attributes—retailer-problem-first, building retail-ready opportunity units, integrated brand/product/ops—are explained, but without the brand credit, so competitors can borrow this language without attribution in future training cycles.

Recommendations

- Reframe how you talk about yourselves so that your signature ideas are clearly branded—e.g., “Opportunity Units™,” “Retailer-Problem-First Commercial Design,” or “Embedded Merchandising Pods”—and use those phrases consistently across your site, decks, and public talks.
- Then proactively pitch case studies and guest content to industry outlets (trade media, founder communities, category management forums) under the Opportunity designed name, so assistants begin to associate those branded concepts directly with you.
- This will make it easier for LLMs to treat Opportunity designed as a recognizable entity with proprietary methods rather than a generic ‘approach.’

medium timeframe

Queries about exactly the problems Opportunity designed solves (first big retail rollout, assortment strategy, category-reset work) are being answered with long lists of competitors, so there is an immediate opportunity to “insert” the brand into those patterns.

Across dozens of queries about assortment optimization, SKU rationalization, line reviews, category growth stories, and retail rollout de-risking, ChatGPT lists NIQ, Circana, McKinsey, Deloitte, L.E.K., Columbus, various boutiques, but never Opportunity designed. Yet your business drivers show you are already associated with revenue growth & trade discipline, retail channel strategy, category captaincy support, and buyer-focused sell-in.

Recommendations

- Build a concise “partner comparison” narrative that explicitly positions Opportunity designed against the names that show up in these answers: big strategy firms, data providers, and hands-on boutiques.
- Translate that into a series of clear, public-facing pages and case summaries titled in the same way as common queries (e.g., “Who helps brands de-risk their first Target rollout?”) and show exactly how your work differs in scope, speed, and integration.
- This will not only help human buyers but also increase the chance that assistants learn to mention you side-by-side with those incumbents for these recurring use cases.

Narrative Drivers Opportunities

urgent timeframe

Opportunity designed has effectively zero Share of Voice in ChatGPT compared with major consultancies, so it rarely appears in recommendation shortlists.

In the SOV table, Opportunity designed does not appear at all, while peers like McKinsey, Circana, NIQ, BCG, and Bain dominate answers and top positions. In practice, this means that when decision-makers ask ChatGPT for “who to hire,” Opportunity designed is almost never mentioned, so it is not even entering the initial consideration set.

Recommendations

- Treat ChatGPT and similar assistants as a distinct top-of-funnel channel and design content explicitly for them.
- Ensure your website, case studies, and founder profiles clearly and consistently use the exact brand name “Opportunity designed” alongside language that maps to the queries in this data (e.g., “assortment strategy for Target and Ulta,” “category growth story,” “retail-ready opportunity units”), so assistants can confidently surface you as a named option.
- Systematically brief and seed detailed third-party content (articles, interviews, conference talks, podcast transcripts) that describe your approach in the same vocabulary, increasing the likelihood that LLMs learn and reference the brand as a distinct entity rather than a generic concept.

urgent timeframe

Because Opportunity designed is not present in the structured ‘Share of Voice’ landscape, it is missing out on the compounding advantage of being recommended early and often to users who then search and talk about the brand.

Brands like McKinsey (19.59% SOV), Circana (15.98%), NIQ (15.08%), and BCG/Bain dominate mentions and appear near the top of responses, reinforcing a feedback loop: more recommendations → more human queries → more content → even more AI familiarity. Opportunity designed, by contrast, is invisible in these metrics, so it’s not participating in that compounding loop at all.

Recommendations

- Pick one or two high-value question territories (for example “retail rollout for emerging CPG” and “category growth story for buyers”) and become obsessively visible around them in channels that LLMs and decision-makers both ingest—conference keynotes, panels, long-form interviews, and detailed case write-ups.
- Make sure your team and clients use the full brand name in public discussion and social posts about those appearances.
- Concentrating efforts on a narrow set of topics will give you a realistic path to appearing often enough that assistants start to view Opportunity designed as a natural inclusion rather than an outlier.

Perception

Critical Sentiment Shifts

Platform: ChatGPT

| Critical Sentiment Shifts             | Priorities                                                                                    |
|---------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Lead With Retailer Problems    | Make “retailer-problem-first” headline claim; 4/5 mentions prove it differentiates.           |
| Own Opportunity Units Story    | Reframe credentials around “retail-ready opportunity units”; cited positively in 4/5 answers. |
| Codify Concept-to-Shelf System | Package integration strengths (4/5 mentions) into a named, teachable operating framework.     |
| Close Proof Gap Versus Giants  | Counter Kantar/McKinsey 58–80% positive shares with 3–5 numeric case snapshots.               |
| Clarify Category on Day One    | Adopt one primary label to fix 3/5-positioning-ambiguity and reduce engagement risk.          |

Competitive Perception by Platform

Platform: ChatGPT

Favorable Sentiment Over Time

Platform: ChatGPT

Key Sentiment Drivers

Brand Strength Factors

Platform: ChatGPT

| Brand Strength Factors                                                                                                                                           | Mentions               |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------|
| ● Focus on building discrete, retail-ready “opportunity units” (assortment, price architecture, planograms, launch calendar) rather than abstract strategy decks |  |
| ● Hands-on, embedded style with retainer-style deal support and execution guidance beyond initial strategy                                                       |  |
| ● Retailer- and category-problem–first approach that designs offers around specific gaps in a retailer’s strategy                                                |  |
| ● Strong integration of brand, product, and retail operations into one commercial package                                                                        |  |
| ● Perceived retail insider / merchandising and buying expertise, especially relevant to outdoor and performance categories                                       |  |
| ● Data- and test-driven commercial rigor (scenario modeling, pilots, proof of incrementality) tied directly to revenue and margin outcomes                       |  |

Areas for Improvement

Platform: ChatGPT

| Areas For Improvement                                                                                                                                 | Mentions               |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------|
| ● Limited perceived scale for very large, global, or cross-functional transformations, leading some brands to 'graduate' to big firms                 |  |
| ● Ambiguity in how the offer is labeled and positioned (strategy vs brand vs innovation), making it harder for prospects to map to their felt problem |  |
| ● Price and value-fit concerns for some smaller brands relative to their budgets and alternative options                                              |  |
| ● Scarcity of public case studies and client reviews, reducing social proof and increasing perceived engagement risk                                  |  |
| ● Low brand recognition and search visibility compared with established consultancies, creating initial uncertainty                                   |  |
| ● Narrower scope than enterprise consultancies on areas like large-scale analytics, org design, or supply-chain transformation                        |  |

Perception Opportunities

Platform: ChatGPT

| Perception Opportunities |
|--------------------------|
|--------------------------|

short timeframe

When Opportunity designed is described, its retailer-problem-first mindset and retail-ready "opportunity units" are consistently seen as strong, distinctive positives.

Four out of five analyzed answers highlight that the approach starts from the retailer's category problem and builds discrete, pitchable opportunity units (assortment, price architecture, planograms, calendars) rather than abstract strategy decks. This is differentiated from typical growth or retail consultancies, which are seen as more theoretical or internally focused.

Recommendations

- Elevate these two drivers to the center of your external narrative and proof.
- Rewrite your boilerplate, website hero, and case stories to lead with "We start from the retailer's problem" and "We build retail-ready opportunity units, not decks," backed by one or two quantified examples per claim.
- Train every client-facing team member to use this language so ChatGPT and human buyers both repeatedly associate Opportunity designed with those specific strengths.

Perception Opportunities

short timeframe

Ambiguity in how Opportunity designed is labeled (strategy vs brand vs innovation) makes it harder for prospects and AI assistants to map the firm to their felt problem, weakening perception clarity.

Ambiguity in positioning is listed as a negative driver (3/5 mentions), and the ChatGPT responses mirror this: the assistant alternately interprets Opportunity designed as a generic “opportunity design mindset” or asks for clarification about what it is. By contrast, competitors in the data are consistently tagged as “brand consultancies,” “category management specialists,” or “revenue growth management” firms, which makes it easy to match them to specific needs.

Recommendations

- Decide on a primary label that sits in your buyers’ existing mental categories—e.g., “retail growth and category strategy consultancy for emerging and mid-market brands”—and enforce that language everywhere your brand appears.
- Then, build simple problem-to-service maps (e.g., “If you’re preparing for your first Target line review → this is the service”) so that both humans and AI assistants can quickly see how Opportunity designed lines up to common use cases.
- This will improve clarity of perception and increase the odds that you’re recommended as an obvious fit for specific retail challenges.

medium timeframe

The market perceives Opportunity designed as unusually strong at integrating brand, product, and retail operations into one commercial package, which is a gap in many competitors’ offers.

Integration of brand, product, and retail operations is mentioned 4 out of 5 times as a positive driver. Most other firms in the responses are either brand/creative, data/analytics, or strategy-only; very few are framed as truly spanning from concept to line review to store execution in one coherent system.

Recommendations

- Turn this integration into a named, teachable framework—for example a “Concept-to-Shelf Operating System”—and map how it works step by step in a public case or playbook.
- Then, in buyer-facing materials and any thought leadership, always contrast this with the typical fragmented model (brand agency + strategy firm + broker + in-house ops) so the advantage is explicit.
- This makes it easier for both clients and AI systems to see Opportunity designed as the default answer when they want end-to-end commercial design, not just strategy advice.

Perception Opportunities

medium timeframe

Perceptions around data- and test-driven rigor are positive but under-leveraged relative to large analytics providers, who own most of the 'data' narrative in ChatGPT answers.

Your data- and test-driven commercial rigor is mentioned 4/5 times as a positive, but almost all citations and detailed data talk in ChatGPT responses go to NIQ, Circana, and McKinsey's analytics offerings. Without concrete public examples of your scenario modeling, pilots, and proof of incrementality, you risk being seen as 'data-aware' but not in the same league as these players.

Recommendations

- Surface two to three concrete mini-cases that show your test-and-learn behavior: what scenario you modeled, what pilot you ran, what uplift or risk reduction you proved, and how that changed a retailer decision.
- Publish these in a tight, numeric format (before/after metrics, decision points) and use them in pitches to demonstrate that you bring commercial rigor comparable to data giants, but applied in a more contextual, retailer-first way.
- This will shift perception from "smart boutique" to "evidence-driven commercial partner."

medium timeframe

The strongest negative perceptions are around low brand recognition and limited social proof, which create a sense of engagement risk versus better-known competitors with high positive-perception shares.

Low brand recognition and search visibility are flagged in 5/5 instances as a negative, and scarcity of public case studies in 4/5. Meanwhile, brand perception metrics show very high positive shares for established brand consultancies (Interbrand, Landor, Siegel+Gale at 100%; Kantar 80%; McKinsey 58.33%), creating a contrast where Opportunity designed feels comparatively 'unproven' even when the underlying capability is strong.

Recommendations

- Address perceived risk head-on by building a small but sharp body of social proof: anonymized case snapshots with numbers, a few named testimonials where possible, and a simple "who we're right for / not right for" guide.
- Make these easy to find and heavily referenced in any external communication.
- That way, when ChatGPT or a prospect surfaces your low recognition as a concern, there is a clear, credible story that mitigates it with evidence rather than rhetoric.

Questions

Time-Critical Shifts

Platform: ChatGPT

| Time-Critical Shifts               | Priorities                                                                                         |
|------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Own 'Retail-Smart' Niche    | Over 150 queries signal demand for messy-middle, niche-to-national retail growth expertise.        |
| Lead With Buyer Credentials | Dozens of comparison queries fixate on real line-review, planogram, and category-reset experience. |
| Productize Retail Readiness | Repeated, specific JTBD questions justify 3-4 modular, fixed-scope retail expansion offers.        |

Topic Distribution

Platform: ChatGPT

|                                                                                         |       |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|
| ● consultancy / partner selection & fit (including opportunity designed vs competitors) | 37.5% |
| ● assortment, sku, and line architecture strategy                                       | 16.5% |
| ● channel, retailer, and go-to-market strategy                                          | 16%   |
| ● brand & category positioning and transformation                                       | 15%   |
| ● retail buyer, category, and pitch strategy                                            | 9%    |
| ● pricing, margin, and pack / trade architecture                                        | 6%    |

Query Intent Distribution

Platform: ChatGPT

Query Topics

Platform: ChatGPT

| Query Topics                                        | Intent                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | Value                                                                                        |
|-----------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Channel, retailer, and go-to-market strategy | support                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 44.00%    |
|                                                     | Who can help an emerging CPG brand go from regional distribution to national shelf placement without blowing the trade spend budget?Who can advise a performance footwear brand on how to expand into lifestyle channels without confusing consumers? |                                                                                              |
| Channel, retailer, and go-to-market strategy | research                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 31.00%    |
|                                                     | Who helps consumer brands figure out which retailers they should actually be in versus chasing every door?What are the best agencies for helping an outdoor brand expand from specialty shops into big-box sporting goods and mass retail?            |                                                                                              |
| Channel, retailer, and go-to-market strategy | improvement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | 13.00%  |
|                                                     | Who can help a consumer brand build a multi-year line and channel strategy instead of just chasing next season?What partners can help us avoid channel conflict when expanding into more retailers?                                                   |                                                                                              |

| Query Topics                                           | Intent                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | Value                         |
|--------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|
| Channel, retailer, and go-to-market strategy    | comparison Which consulting firms are best at helping consumer brands break into national retailers like Target or Ulta? When brands want to protect full-price positioning while still driving volume through big box and club channels, how does Opportunity designed's strategy compare to the typical playbook used by other growth or category consultants? | 9.00%   |
| Channel, retailer, and go-to-market strategy    | purchase What kind of consultant should a brand hire to build a 3-year category and channel roadmap?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    | 3.00%   |
| Assortment, sku, and line architecture strategy | research What kind of consultant should a growth-stage beauty brand hire to build a winning assortment strategy for big-box retail? Which specialty firms help outdoor and performance brands optimize their merchandising mix for wholesale accounts?                                                                                                           | 45.00%  |
| Assortment, sku, and line architecture strategy | support Who helps brands redesign their product architecture so retailers stop seeing them as "me too" offerings? Who helps consumer brands avoid over-assorting and instead focus on hero products that drive velocity?                                                                                                                                         | 39.00%  |

| Query Topics                                                                                     | Intent                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | Value                                                                                        |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Assortment, sku, and line architecture strategy                                           | comparison                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 6.00%     |
|                                                                                                  | What firms are best at building “good, better, best” product ladders that translate in-store and online? Which firms excel at translating consumer insights into clear assortment and merchandising decisions? |                                                                                              |
| Assortment, sku, and line architecture strategy                                           | improvement                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 6.00%     |
|                                                                                                  | What kind of expert can evaluate our current sell-through and recommend changes to our line plan? Who can help us figure out whether we’re over-distributed and need to pull back to grow stronger?            |                                                                                              |
| Assortment, sku, and line architecture strategy                                           | consultancy / partner selection &amp; fit (including opportunity designed vs competitors)                                                                                                                             | 3.00%   |
|                                                                                                  | Which consultants can help us decide whether to lead with fewer, premium SKUs or a broader assortment at opening price points?                                                                                        |                                                                                              |
| Consultancy / partner selection &amp; fit (including opportunity designed vs competitors) | research                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 36.00%  |
|                                                                                                  | How do smaller consumer brands find a strategic partner to de-risk their first big retail rollout? Are there firms that combine brand strategy with real retail buying and merchandising experience?           |                                                                                              |

| Query Topics                                                                                     | Intent                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                      | Value                                                                                       |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Consultancy / partner selection &amp; fit (including opportunity designed vs competitors) | comparison What types of consumer brands get the most value from working with Opportunity designed versus going with a big generalist consulting firm, and how do those clients usually describe the experience afterward? When consumer brands are trying to break into national retailers like Target or Ulta, how does Opportunity designed's approach differ from what other growth or retail strategy consultancies typically do? | 35.00%   |
| Consultancy / partner selection &amp; fit (including opportunity designed vs competitors) | support What kind of partner helps brands negotiate better with retail buyers and actually speak their language? Which agencies help early-stage consumer brands avoid costly mistakes in their first major retail launch?                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 23.00%  |
| Consultancy / partner selection &amp; fit (including opportunity designed vs competitors) | purchase Where can we find a consultant who understands both retail math and brand storytelling? What agencies help brands build "category captain" style tools and insights even if they're not the market leader yet?                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 4.00%  |

| Query Topics                                                                                     | Intent                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                  | Value                                                                                        |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Consultancy / partner selection &amp; fit (including opportunity designed vs competitors) | improvementWhat kind of consultant should we hire to evaluate our current retail partners and suggest better channel fit?Who can evaluate our current merchandising in-store and online and recommend specific improvements?         | 3.00%     |
| Retail buyer, category, and pitch strategy                                                | supportWhat consultants can help a brand create a category growth story that resonates with retail buyers?Who can help us prepare for line reviews with major retailers so we actually get more shelf space?                         | 61.00%    |
| Retail buyer, category, and pitch strategy                                                | researchWhat firms are known for helping brands secure and keep space at Costco and similar club retailers?What partners help brands pressure-test their category and channel strategy before pitching major retailers?              | 39.00%  |
| Brand &amp; category positioning and transformation                                       | researchWhat consulting agencies specialize in taking a niche premium brand mainstream without diluting the brand?What type of agency is best for a founder-led brand that wants to own a category instead of just adding more SKUs? | 47.00%  |

| Query Topics                                    | Intent                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        | Value                                                                                       |
|-------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Brand & category positioning and transformation | support                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 37.00%   |
|                                                 | Who helps brands redesign underperforming categories inside existing retailers to unlock more space and support?Which firms can help emerging beauty or wellness brands package their story for prestige and mass retail at the same time?                                                                                                                                                                                                |                                                                                             |
|                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                             |
| Brand & category positioning and transformation | improvement                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                            | 10.00%   |
|                                                 | What consultants can build a growth game plan for a brand that's plateaued in conventional grocery?Who can help us reframe our category so we're no longer compared directly to low-price competitors?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                    |                                                                                             |
|                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                             |
| Brand & category positioning and transformation | comparison                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | 7.00%  |
|                                                 | In terms of pure revenue impact, what do client case stories suggest about Opportunity designed's ability to "own the category" versus what brands say they see from more traditional brand or management consultancies?For U.S. consumer brands trying to become category leaders, is The Doneger Group still the safer, more established choice, or are newer boutiques starting to outperform them on growth and merchandising impact? |                                                                                             |
|                                                 |                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               |                                                                                             |

| Query Topics                                          | Intent                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             | Value                                                                                        |
|-------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Pricing, margin, and pack / trade architecture | supportWho can guide a founder through building pricing and pack architecture that works across club, mass, and specialty retail?Who can help us build a retail growth plan that doesn't depend on discounting?                                 | 50.00%    |
| Pricing, margin, and pack / trade architecture | researchWhich consultants specialize in helping premium outdoor brands avoid margin erosion as they scale into larger retailers?Who specializes in helping brands avoid margin-killing promo and trade tactics when scaling into big retailers? | 25.00%    |
| Pricing, margin, and pack / trade architecture | improvementWho can help a DTC brand design a smart wholesale strategy so they don't get crushed on margin?Who can help us align our packaging architecture with retail shelf logic rather than just DTC visuals?                                | 17.00%  |
| Pricing, margin, and pack / trade architecture | consultancy / partner selection &amp; fit (including opportunity designed vs competitors)Who can help a premium performance brand crack the right mix of price points for mass retailers?                                                           | 8.00%   |

Questions Opportunities

Platform: ChatGPT

Questions Opportunities

Questions Opportunities

urgent timeframe*Clarify and claim a sharp positioning around 'retail-smart growth' for mid-sized, founder-led consumer brands moving from niche to national.

Many queries ask what types of brands get the most value from Opportunity designed, how it compares to big consultancies, and whether it brings unique retail-buyer insight. The pattern shows interest from founder-led, mid-market, and "messy middle" brands that are too complex for freelancers but overlooked by large firms. There is also repeated emphasis on moving from specialty or DTC into mass, club, and big-box without eroding margins or diluting the brand. This cluster suggests a clear white space: an expert partner in retail-smart growth for challenger brands scaling into national retail.

Recommendations

- Codify a crisp ICP: emerging to mid-sized U.S.
- consumer brands (CPG, beauty, wellness, outdoor/performance, lifestyle) moving from regional/specialty/DTC into national retail.
- Anchor your brand story around being the partner that combines brand equity protection with hard-edged retail and merchandising know-how.
- Update all front-facing messaging (website, creds, case studies, sales decks) to explicitly say who you're for, where you're best, and when a larger or more generic firm might be a better fit.
- Use language from the queries themselves (e.g., "from niche to category leader without margin erosion") so prospects immediately recognize themselves.

Questions Opportunities

urgent timeframe*Make Opportunity designed's retail-buyer and merchandising experience a hero proof point, not background context.

Prospects repeatedly ask who has “real retail buying experience,” who “speaks buyer language,” and how Opportunity designed's buyer insight compares with other firms, including The Doneger Group and Parker Avery. They're clearly trying to reduce risk by choosing partners with genuine line review, planogram, and category reset experience. This suggests buyer-side credibility is a top selection criterion but may not yet feel sufficiently de-risked or differentiated in Opportunity designed's current positioning.

Recommendations

- Bring buyer and merchant experience to the foreground: explicitly state years in retail buying/merchandising, categories, and key retailers in your core narrative.
- Build specific, anonymized mini case stories that show you've sat in the buyer's chair—“what we know retail buyers actually look for in line reviews,” “how we've influenced category roles from the inside.” Incorporate buyer-style tools (mock line review templates, pitch-deck frameworks, category role maps) into lead magnets and early conversations to visibly demonstrate this edge.
- Position this as the main reason to choose Opportunity designed over generic “growth strategy” boutiques or big consulting brands that only observe retail from the outside.

urgent timeframe*Productize a clear suite of “retail readiness and expansion” offers that cover assortment, channel choice, and test-and-learn roadmaps.

A large portion of queries revolve around very specific jobs to be done: deciding whether a brand is ready for big-box, choosing the right anchor retailers, sequencing channels (DTC vs Amazon vs brick-and-mortar), designing test pilots, and modeling different retail scenarios. Founders are looking for concrete, scoped help to de-risk first or next big retail moves rather than vague strategy. This indicates a strong opportunity to create recognizable, modular services that map to these highly repeated pain points.

Recommendations

- Design 3–4 named offerings—e.g., “Retail Readiness Diagnostic,” “Channel & Anchor Retailer Blueprint,” “Assortment & SKU Rationalization Sprint,” and “Test-and-Learn Retail Pilot Plan.” For each, define inputs (data, time), outputs (deliverables), and decision questions answered (e.g., “Are we ready for Target or should we stay specialty another 18 months?”).
- Market these as fixed-scope, time-bound engagements that feel accessible to resource-constrained teams and can precede larger strategy work.
- Use sample decision frameworks and before/after stories in marketing to show exactly how these products de-risk specific retail moves.

Questions Opportunities

urgent timeframe

Lean into being the partner that gives tough, profit-focused assortment calls and simplifies bloated portfolios.

Many queries focus on cutting SKUs, identifying hero products, avoiding over-assortment, tightening lines ahead of buyer meetings, and cleaning up after rapid, undisciplined growth. There's frustration with consultants who only offer high-level advice and won't say what to cut or change. This signals unmet demand for a partner willing to make clear, data-backed, sometimes uncomfortable recommendations that drive velocity and margin, not just top-line excitement.

Recommendations

- Position Opportunity designed explicitly as “the partner who will tell you what to cut, not just what to add.” Build a proprietary, repeatable framework (with a simple name) for hero-SKU identification, SKU rationalization, and assortment by channel/retailer role, and feature this heavily in your story.
- In case studies, quantify the impact of simplification—improvements in margin, inventory turns, and sell-through—and explicitly mention the hard calls you helped teams make.
- In sales conversations, differentiate from both agencies and consultancies by promising—and delivering—specific product-level and pack-architecture recommendations, not just strategic themes.

Questions Opportunities

urgent timeframe*Address perceived risk and value-for-money head-on with transparent outcomes, engagement models, and comparison guidance.

Numerous queries question whether Opportunity designed is “worth the cost,” what frustrations clients have, why brands don’t renew, and how it stacks up against big firms and other boutiques. Prospects are clearly price- and risk-sensitive, often under-resourced, and weighing you against big names like McKinsey/Bain as well as specialty competitors like Retail Voodoo, The Doneger Group, and Parker Avery. This shows a trust and clarity gap around ROI, working style, and when Opportunity designed is the better or worse choice.

Recommendations

- Create honest, expectation-setting content: “When we’re the right partner (and when we’re not),” “How our engagements work vs big consultancies,” and anonymized summaries of measurable revenue, margin, or space gains from past work.
- Offer tiered engagement models (e.g., diagnostic + roadmap, then optional implementation support) so brands can start smaller and scale up as value is proven.
- Equip your team with a simple comparison narrative that acknowledges trade-offs—less global breadth than McKinsey, more hands-on and buyer-specific; more strategic depth than creative agencies but not a replacement for them.
- Invite prospects to a short ‘fit check’ session focused on risk (budget, capacity, timing) to co-assess whether Opportunity designed is actually the best use of their money right now.